Juror's Statement - Susan Ruddick Bloom

What a joy it was to look at all the fine entries that were submitted to the New River Art 2007 Show! It is always so difficult to make decisions about what should be hung in the show. Of course, there are always size limitations, as to how much the gallery will hold. Other considerations include the adequate representation of the broad range of mediums used by artists in the area. Jurors never like to be heavy in one medium to the exclusion of others. I was delighted to see the range of activity present.

It was a fabulous idea to include an Overflow Salon, in the manner of the Salon des Refuses, which was a great French tradition. It is indeed an embarrassment of riches, flowing from the artistic wellsprings present in your area. You should all feel full of pride as the arts are alive and well in the New River Art Show.
